Housing rate hike proposal to be studied

by Scott Apland

A proposal to increase room and board rates by about $56 will come before the housing committee Tuesday, Director of Housing Lou Hencken said at Thursday's Residence Hall Association meeting.

The proposed 2.9-percent increase would be the lowest room and board rate hike at Eastern in 10 years, Hencken said.

If the $56 dollar increase is approved, Eastern's room and board rate will still be the lowest of state schools, Hencken said.

Last year a 7.9 housing increase was approved, which boosted room and board fees to $1,930. If an increase for next year is approved, on-campus students will pay $1,986 for housing.

If approved by Eastern's housing committee, which is made up of five RHA members and two student senators, the 2.9 percent room and board increase will be sent to the Housing Office, Vice President of Student Affairs Glenn Williams and Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin for approval before it is presented to the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Hencken added that two additional recommendations will be made to the housing committee to help alleviate rapid increases in utilities and other costs and to help keep the room and board increase low.

One of these recommendations calls for the establishment of an annual housing contract which would prohibit students from moving off campus after fall semester, Hencken said. He said this provision would save $200,000, which would be applied to student housing costs.

Those students who withdraw from the university, student teachers and students who graduate in December would still be able to cancel housing contracts, he added.

Hencken said 200 students canceled housing contracts this year to move off campus for the spring semester. This reduced residence-hall occupancy from over 100 percent to 97 percent, which caused the $200,000 loss, he added.

Some state schools penalize students with a cancellation fee if they cancel on-campus housing contracts between semesters, Hencken said. He cited a $500 fee at Southern Illinois University as an example.

However, Hencken added a cancellation fee is not being recommended to Eastern's housing committee.

Hencken said another recommendation to be voted on by the housing committee Tuesday suggests eliminating meals on the weekends preceding Labor Day, Lincoln's birthday and fall break. Currently meals are not served on Labor Day or Lincoln's birthday.

The reasoning behind this proposal is evidence of a low student turnout rate at meals during those weekends, Hencken noted.

"An average of 23 percent of on-campus students eat at each meal during holiday weekends, and only 14 percent eat the weekend of fall break," Hencken said.

In other business, the Housing Office released the results of a housing survey sent to 25 percent of all residence-hall students, Hencken said.

Local residents polled favor retail package liquor sales in Charleston

by Gene O'Shea

The majority of Charleston residents who responded to a recent liquor survey said they favor allowing retail stores to sell package liquor.

The Charleston City Council asked the Liquor Control Advisory Commission to conduct a survey asking residents about their feelings on the sale of liquor in Charleston. The survey resulted from an Osco Drug, Inc. representative's request that the council amend a 1959 ordinance prohibiting the sale of package liquor in retail stores.

The commission found that 72.6 percent of the survey respondents favor liquor sales in grocery stores, 61.6 percent favor sales in drug stores and 56.7 percent favor liquor sales in clubs such as the Kiwanis and Elks.

Charleston City Planner Larry Stoever conducted the survey and said 800 surveys were sent out and 422 were returned.

According to the survey results, 101 of the respondents were between the ages of 21 and 30, while 36 of the total 422 respondents were students.

Commission Chairman Murray Choate said Friday the commission will want to analyze the data further before making a decision concerning liquor sales.

"The survey was well done," Choate said, "but we want to withhold any opinions until the entire commission is here."

Two commission members, Jerry Carter and Mel Medder, were not at the meeting.

Valerie Averill, the commission's student representative, said she found the survey results interesting.

"I am going to contact several student organizations and hear their opinions," Averill said.

Commission member Russell Reddicks said the survey would not be the only input used in making a decision concerning the sales.

"People stop us on the street and call us on the phone," Reddicks said. "We (commission members) all should keep this in mind."

A similar survey was conducted in 1978. That survey found the majority of respondents did not favor retail package liquor sales.

Stoever said "attitudes have changed," accounting for the difference in this survey's findings.

Stoever said Eastern accounting, data processing and finance instructor Roland Spaniol's computer business applications class is rechecking the survey.

Polish economy a 'mess'—Marvin

by Frank Garvin

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin said Sunday "the Polish economy is in a terrible mess" due to a decrease in the nation's production.

"Poland's centralized planning is among the poorest in all of eastern Europe," he added.

Marvin's lecture and slide presentation, "Poland: 1980 and Beyond," was the first in the American Association of University Professors lecture series.

Marvin, who traveled to Poland last semester as a member of a delegation of university presidents, spoke to a near-capacity crowd in Booth Library Lecture Hall.

"Poland is a lovely country with great people, but it's awfully screwed up. It needs to get a lot of things straightened out," he said.

"Two-thirds of Poland's hard currency goes for interest payments while the other third buys desperately-needed Western goods," Marvin said.

"Everything is rationed in Poland—the only foods in plentiful supply are apples, cabbages and turnips," he said.

However, Marvin repeatedly said the Poles are "a very unified, patriotic and nationalistic people," mainly because of the strength of the Catholic church in Poland.

The Poles have had a long history of struggle throughout the past thousand years, "so much so that they look more to the past than to the future," he said.

There is a "very delicate balance" between the church and the military tribunal, he added.

"The church exercises its influence on the state, but in a very subtle and quiet way," Marvin said.

The church had some influence in the release of Solidarity leader Lech Walesa, Marvin said, adding "a deal had been cut" between the church and the state.

Polish Archbishop Josef Glemp acted as a go-between for Walesa's release. When Walesa was freed the Pope John Paul II announced that a papal visit to Poland in 1983 was possible, Marvin noted.

"When Walesa was taken captive by the Communists, the Pope canceled his 1982 visit to Poland," he said.

The arrest of Solidarity's Walesa and outlawing of the union took place largely because Solidarity "went too far, too fast," Marvin said.

Members of the trade union sent letters to workers in foreign nations to encourage them in their struggle to organize and to express the hope that representatives of all foreign trade unions would get together to exchange views, he said.

However, the Polish regime imposed martial law only two and one-half months later and outlawed Solidarity, he added.

Falkland's war cost $ 2.82 billion

LONDON—The cost of keeping the Falkland Islands British will exceed $1.5 million for each of the 1,813 islanders over the next three years, the Sunday Times reported.

According to the paper, the total to be spent defending the Falklands against the threat of invasion from Argentina—which seized the islands last April 2 and surrendered them 74 days later—would be the equivalent of 2.82 billion. Argentina still claims sovereignty over the South Atlantic islands.

Kids rob to support video habit

TOKYO—Police detained five elementary schoolboys Sunday for allegedly operating a gang of bicycle-riding thieves who stole about $39,000 in cash and jewelry to support their video-game habits.

Nine other junior high and primary students who learned of the thefts also were taken into custody for allegedly wringing $2,600 in hush money from the gang, police in the northeast city of Sendai said.

Christian, Druse battle rages, five killed in mountain fight

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Christian and Druse militiamen battled with grenades, artillery and rockets during a blizzard in Lebanon's central mountains Sunday, killing at least five people and setting several houses afire, police said.

A few stray rounds of small-arms bullets landed near U.S. Marine peacekeepers deployed in the Beirut airport area, but caused no injuries. But an Italian member of the multinational force had a leg amputated Saturday after a cluster bomb he thought was inert exploded while he was taking it to demolition experts, an Italian spokesman said.

In other developments, the death toll climbed to 22 in the bombing of a PLO building in Beirut, a guerrilla blast slightly wounded the Israeli tank commander confronted by a pistol-waving U.S. Marine last week, and Israeli military officials put out a story that the Marine had alcohol on his breath.

U.S. military spokesmen called the story "absolutely false."

Police said renewed Christian-Druse battles flared during heavy snowfall in the central mountain towns of Aley, Souk el-Gharb and Aitah, about eight miles southeast of Beirut.

The Christian Phalange Party, political arm of the militia which cooperated with Israel's invasion army against the Palestine Liberation Organization last summer, accused Israel for the first time publicly of supporting the Phalangists' Druse opponents.

"Israeli forces are preventing our forces from confronting attacks mounted against us by Druse socialists in Aley," said the Phalangist-controlled Voice of Lebanon radio. "Socialists are attacking from Israeli lines."

The progressive Socialist Party militia of Lebanon's top leftist leader, Walid Jumblatt, is the bulwark of the nation's 200,000-strong population of Druse, a breakaway Islamic sect. The Socialists sided with PLO in last summer's war.

Senators resign due to bylaw violations

by Douglas Backstrom

At a special Student Senate meeting, the senate formally accepted the resignations of five student senators due to violations of the Student Senate constitution.

The senators were asked to resign their seats since they did not have a cumulative grade point average of 2.3 or were not full-time students, Senate Speaker Glenn Good said.

Senator Diane Jayson resigned her off-campus senate seat because she has less than 12 hours this semester. Students with 12 or more semester hours are full-time students.

Senators Phil Lewandowski, Chris

Roerig, Eddie Mullally and Sheila McWeeny resigned their senate seats due to insufficient grade point averages.

Roerig and Mullally occupied off-campus senate seats while Lewandowski and McWeeny served as at-large senators.

The resignations were prompted Feb. 2 by Student Body President Terry Teele, who requested the resignation of any senator who did not meet the Student Senate constitution requirements.

The senate constitution states, "No person shall hold office of senator who does not have a 2.30 cumulative grade point average and is not a full-time student."

Petitions for the open senate seats can be picked up between 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Feb. 7 in the Student Activities Office on the second floor of the Union addition, Teele said.

Each petition requires 25 signatures from students within the petitioning district.

Senate petitions are due by Friday, Feb. 11 at the Student Activities Office.

Petitioners will then be interviewed by the Student Senate Legislative Leadership Committee, Teele said. Recommendations will then be made to the Student Senate on Feb. 16.

News program to start Monday

by Andrea Nykiel

Eastern's Cable Data News Service has expanded this semester and will begin showing its first news magazine program Monday.

John Beabout, director of the radio and television center, said the news magazine series "In Focus" will feature four different segments highlighting Coles County.

"In Focus" will not be a program about Eastern for Eastern, but a community event. "The program is concerned about the community which Eastern is a part of," Beabout said.

"In Focus" will consist of an interview and three segments devoted to Eastern, the Mattoon and Charleston Chambers of Commerce and a local business, he added.

The first production of "In Focus" will be shown at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, Beabout said.

The radio and television center plans to produce a new segment of "In Focus" every three weeks, Beabout added.

The second program to be cablecast is a classic film series.

UB budgets less due to lack of concerts

by Gary Bray

According to a budget request presented to the Apportionment Board Thursday, the University Board's fiscal year 1984 revenue projection falls about $90,000 short of the total revenues predicted for this fiscal year.

UB Adviser Don Cook said the anticipated reduction in revenue is due to an "overly-optimistic budget prepared last year."

He said that last year UB expected to sponsor more concerts this year than they actually have, and are budgeting "more realistically" for next year.

This year's budget predicted $140,000 in profits from concerts and has only received $40,863 of that sum. The UB's budget for next fiscal year anticipates only $60,000 in concert revenues.

The $80,000 reduction from last year's anticipated concert profits makes up almost all of the $86,377 deduction in total revenue, Cook said.

To help aid in funding, the UB has requested a $77.55 increase in the amount of student fee money allocated to it, Cook said. He added the request is "virtually the same amount" the UB received last year.

Cook explained the AB would grant the increase by distributing next year's total student fee money differently. The UB is not calling for an increase in student fees charged to the student population.

Financial Vice President John Cole said the AB will begin deliberations on the UB budget at its Feb. 8 meeting.

Cole said UB's presentation last Thursday went smoothly and he does not foresee major problems in next week's deliberation.

In other business, Gretchen Saries was introduced by Cole as a new AB member. Saries replaced Carol Harper, who was eliminated from the board due to lack of attendance.

It's 'Your turn' to address issues

The Daily Eastern News staff devoted last week's "Page Four" column space to the subject of student awareness (or lack of it) with the hope that students would respond.

Because we have received no letters on this topic, it seems that the intent of our columns was lost on the student body.

We realize that no one likes to have his flaws—in this case, apathy—pointed out. Still we believed it was high time your student newspaper brought the subject up.

We believed it was necessary for a number of reasons:

- First, because the News is your paper, and we think you should begin using the portion of its editorial page titled "Your Turn" for a more constructive purpose than complaining about each other's physiques.
- Secondly, because we want you to realize that, as a group, you have the power to change what is wrong on this campus if you choose to do so.
- Lastly, and most importantly, because the future belongs to all of us and we should be fighting to make it better. If we don't start fighting now, we will have no right to complain when the future doesn't turn out the way we wanted.

Last week it was "Our Turn." This week it's "Your Turn." We're waiting to hear from you.

Your turn

Group offers safety tips

Editor:

This is an open letter to the students of Eastern.

We would like to inform you of a new extension of student government called the Student Security Commission.

Our goals are to enhance campus security through implementation of new forms of security measures and student awareness programs.

At this time we would like to take the opportunity to offer a few suggestions which will aid in ensuring your security.

- Don't walk alone. Try to arrange to have a friend walk with you. The more people, the safer you are.
- Be prepared with whistles attached to key chains, small containers of mace, or knowledge of self-defense measures. These are all means of deterring assault.
- Most importantly, be aware. Over-confidence or ignorance lead to situations where assault is possible.

To many, these tips will seem to be common knowledge—we think our commission will make sure that they are.

Captain Jack Chambers of the campus police department will be at our meeting in the Union walkway at 4:30 p.m. Monday. He will answer any of your questions. We ask for your suggestions or personal involvement.

Band directors mad

Editor:

The views expressed in this letter are those of Darrell Cannedy and 40 band directors he recently surveyed.

Band directors in high schools have reacted with shock and disbelief at the recent reassignment of Harold Hillyer from his job as band director at Eastern.

We have all known Hillyer for the past 11 years as an energetic, capable and organized teacher who has put Eastern in the forefront of music education.

Getting the students from our bands on campus to see and hear the very excellent marching band and the Super Symphonic winds have been the life blood for the university music department. Many of our kids came to Eastern because of this excellence, not only in the bands but in the choirs, jazz bands and all performing groups.

Hillyer is a true educator and friend to all of us. The size of the school that we taught in didn't matter; he was willing and able to give of his time and energies to all of us first to help kids, and secondly to promote the music department.

We are all well aware that Hillyer was not given the same kind of opportunity that students or anyone else in any other kind of job is given to offer any explanation or defense on his behalf until after the fact.

We feel this is definitely wrong.

The performing groups in the music department and the athletic teams in any school are the open windows to that school. They are always on display and the degree of excellence is immediately evident.

Likewise, the lack of excellence is just as evident. Those of us who have been in this area before Hillyer's tenure at Eastern can remember very well the extremely lean years for music—especially bands at Eastern.

I, as a music educator, will have to consider very carefully the music program at Eastern without Hillyer's capable leadership in the band department before I could ever again recommend any of my students being a part of it.

Gays have feelings!

Editor:

Isn't it time that people realize that other people have feelings and emotions no matter what sex they prefer to build a relationship with.

As a gay individual, I have a right to live life without being treated like a second-class citizen, in a world of first-class bigots.

As a gay student I have not shouted or pointed at those students who live a life far from celibacy. Why then should I be treated like dirt from many of you?

It's a known fact that most heterosexuals have had sexual relations with the same sex at least once in their lives. For those of you that fit this category, remember to point the finger while standing in front of a mirror next time!

Those of you that feel really close to friends of the same sex, are you gay?

It's hard to tell in a world where females dance with other females at local establishments and football players and basketball players slap one another on the butt.

I'm sure that it's purely nothing more than emotional stress. Still feelings and emotions are being publicly displayed for all to see. Hm! Only time will tell.

I guess what it all boils down to is that others should try to understand before they ridicule, since misinterpretations do exist.

Mythical 'mystic' shows students how to fight back

Higher education's financial situation has been bleak for quite a while now. But recently, students affected by this situation have taken even more financial kicks in the face than before.

As a student whose financial situation was considerably desperate even before the recent budget blows, I decided it was time to consult my mentor, The Wise Master of the Embarrass River Delta, in hopes his wisdom would prevent me from becoming caught up in the cross currents of declining student affairs.

So, I stood on the bank of the Embarrass and called out, "Oh, Wise One, if present trends continue, no one will be able to go to school unless they're rich! Tuition is rising, Stevenson lost the governor's race, and the Illinois Board of Higher Education has come out with a ridiculous tuition-hike plan!"

Scanning the murky waters desperately, I was relieved to see my mentor's bald head appear.

Obviously, you students can't continue to roll with the punches the way you have been.

"The punches, Wise One?"

Come on kid, you know, budget cuts, enrollment drops, scholarship cuts...the punches.

"Oh."

If you continue to roll with these punches, soon you'll be rolling downhill like a lost snowball. Counter every punch with a punch of your own.

"But how can students punch back? How can we solve these problems alone?"

A wise man once said that anyone who says "Well, I understand the problem, now what do I do about it?" never understood the problem in the first place.

"Who said that?"

I did, just now. The field of education can be expanded as far as people are bright enough to expand it.

"Maybe I don't understand the problem, but..."

Maybe you're not trying hard enough.

"Would lobbying, signing petitions, writing letters and demonstrating be effective ways to punch back?"

Listen kid, there is nothing mystical about this. If you and your friends would stop wallowing in self-pity you could start fighting back.

"What of the Illinois Student Association and the Student Senate?"

What of them?

"Are they the right fists to punch back with?"

Remember, any "fist" you use is only as effective as you make it—it's up to you.

With that, his bald head receded into the murky depths, leaving me to solve my own problems. But isn't that the way it should be?

Tavern scuffle results in arrest of two students

A fight at Caesar's, 1508 Fourth St., Saturday night resulted in the arrest of an Eastern student and a student from the University of Illinois, Charleston Police Officer Hank Pauls said Sunday.

The fight, which occurred at approximately 8:30 p.m. in the restaurant's Below Deck bar, took place between the students and a Caesar's bartender, Pauls said.

"One of the students punched a employee," Pauls said.

"It was a case of having a little too much liquor," he added.

The students were arrested for disorderly conduct and battery and were placed in the Coles County jail pending a bond hearing, Pauls said.

The names of the students will not be released until formal charges are filed with the state's attorney's office, Pauls added.

The bartender, Mark Foellmer, declined comment on the disturbance and Caesar's owners were unavailable Sunday for comment.

Scout cookies may be ordered by telephone

Although Girl Scouts are not permitted to sell cookies on Eastern's campus due to university regulations, students may order cookies by telephone, June Steger, spokesman for the Covered Bridge Girl Scout Council, said.

Profits from cookie sales are used for scouting activities, such as troop outings and summer camps.

Steger added the Girl Scouts will be selling cookies at booths set up at area businesses in March. Dates and locations will be announced later.

Although the Girl Scouts may not sell cookies on campus, cookie orders will be delivered to residence halls. Delivery dates are March 14 through March 25, she said.

Cookies may be ordered by calling Neighborhood Cookie Chairman Connie Guymon at 345-3605, Steger said. Sales will end Feb. 11.

Travers proves heavy-metal image

Travers lived up to his image Friday night as a heavy metal guitar hero.

Travers presented an hour-long concert to an audience of about 1,000 in Lantz Gym. He played his known cuts, including his cover version of Boom (Out Go the Lights), "Snortin' Away" plus some selections from his new album, Pearl. It was a hot show in which Travers provided dedication to loud, heavy metal rock.

The group was ranked by last week's Performance magazine as the "39th hottest act in the world." Also performing with Travers were bass player "Mars", drummer Sandy Gennaro and keyboardist Don Harriss.

Travers said, "I've always loved what I do, but I've had this renewed enthusiasm for every bit of it. I want to go out and blow peoples' jets." He wanted to show them that every second of the performance is as important as life itself," he added.

Travers was born in Toronto but moved to England in 1975 to further his career. He is known not only for his talent as a writer, singer, song stylist and interpreter, but also for his impassioned live performances.

"I count my lucky stars that I've become an established act, and while I'm not the richest or most successful artist out there, I've established my individuality, style and personality," he said.

However, the overall response on campus to the concert seemed to be poor.

White leads NFC to victory

HONOLULU (AP)—Dallas cornerback Danny White, who sat on sidelines with an injury as the Cowboys lost the National Football Conference title game this season, threw an 11-yard scoring pass to Green Bay wide receiver John Jefferson with 10 seconds remaining to give the NFC a victory over the American Conference Sunday in the Pro Bowl.

Washington's Mark Moseley, who had missed three field goals and another blocked, made the extra point to give the NFC the deciding victory.

White, who completed 14 of 26 passes for 162 yards, kept the winning drive alive when he connected with Jefferson on a fourth-and-7 play for the AFC 25. Jefferson made a diving fingertip catch to give the NFC a 17-16 win at the AFC's 11.

White, a seven-year veteran making his first Pro Bowl appearance, had been knocked out of Dallas' championship game to Washington last month. He suffered a minor concussion.

The NFC victory overshadowed a Pro Bowl record passing performance by San Diego quarterback Dan Fouts, who threw for 257 yards.

Fouts, who played the entire first half and the last half of the fourth quarter, set Pro Bowl records for most yards and most completions.

He completed 16-26 attempts.

He connected with the New York Jets' Wesley Walker on a 34-yard scoring throw in the opening quarter, then helped the AFC to a 19-10 advantage when he directed a 69-yard scoring drive in the third period. Los Angeles Raiders rookie Marcus Allen, the NFL's leading scorer this season, capped the march with a 1-yard plunge.

The NFC trimmed the difference to six points four minutes into the final period on a 41-yard field goal by Moseley.

Fouts, a 10-year veteran, has been the NFL passing yardage leader for the past four years. It was his fourth appearance in the NFL All-star game. Last year, he guided the AFC to its winning drive late in a 16-13 victory.

In Sunday's game, the AFC jumped to a 9-0 lead with two scores in a 15-second span of the opening quarter.

Fouts threw a perfect strike to Walker in the end zone six minutes into the game. On the NFC's first play from scrimmage after the ensuing kickoff, Washington's Joe Theismann dropped back to pass, and Kansas City defensive end At Still trapped him in the end zone for a safety.

A 3-yard scoring run by Atlanta's William Andrews and a 35-yard field goal by Moseley staked the NFC to a 10-9 edge in the second quarter.

Panthers drop 71-67 decision to UNI in key AMCU matchup

Eastern's Dirk Androff lays the ball in during the Panthers 73-61 win over Northern Iowa last Saturday at Lantz Gym. (News photo by Sam Paisley)

by Kirby Flowers

CEDER FALLS, Iowa—Eastern's basketball team was dealt its first conference setback of the year Saturday as the Panthers fell to Northern Iowa 71-67.

With ten seconds remaining and Eastern trailing Northern Iowa 69-67, the Panther's Kevin Jones drove the length of the court and scored. But Jones was called for charging and the basket was disallowed.

Panther head coach Rick Samuels, who was not unavailable for comment Sunday, immediately voiced his disapproval of the call to the officials and was slapped with a technical foul.

Northern Iowa connected on the free throws and Eastern, 4-1, lost its first Association of Mid-Continent Universities contest this season.

Despite the loss, Jones notched 26 points and three assists to lead Eastern offensively. In addition, freshman Kevin Duckworth pulled down seven rebounds for the 6-13 Panthers.

Northern Iowa was led by Mike Pijanowski, who had 20 points, and Brent Carmichael who chipped in 11 points and four steals.

Eastern jumped out to an early advantage and took its biggest lead of the night as Duckworth dunked the ball, was fouled and sank the free throw to give the Panthers a 9-4 margin at the 16:30 mark.

But Northern Iowa fought back to within one, 11-10, with 14:57 left and moments later took the lead 18-17. The Iowa Panthers never relinquished their advantage the rest of the night.

Eastern trailed 33-30 at the intermission and although they never took the lead, the Panthers stayed close to Northern Iowa until the final buzzer.

The Panthers made their final run at Northern Iowa late in the game and if Jones had not been called for charging, the contest probably would have gone into overtime.

Last Saturday, Eastern dumped Northern Iowa 73-61 in an extremely physical contest at Lantz Gym.

Eastern will travel to Murray, Ky. Monday to try to avenge an 84-78 early-season loss to Murray State at Lantz Gym.

Eastern (67)

Dykstra 2 3-3 7, Lorenzen 0 0-0 0, Wyss 3 2-1 6, Crook 3 2-2 8, Jones 10 6-6 26, Duckworth 3 3-3 9, Neidig 3 0-2 6, Androff 1 0-0 2. Totals 26 15-19 67.

Northern Iowa (71)

Overconfident women cagers lose to Lewis

by Kathy Leahy

ROMEDEVILLE—An overconfident Eastern women's cager squad dropped an 82-73 decision to Lewis University Saturday for the Lady Panthers' fourth loss of the season.

"We took the game too lightly and we ended up making a lot of mental mistakes," Eastern head coach Bobbie Hilke said. "I don't think I got the team mentally prepared to play, so I'm partially responsible."

"Lewis was definitely prepared for us, but we weren't prepared for them," she added.

Senior guard Mary Niego led the way for the Flyers, hitting seven of 10 from the field in the first half and finishing the contest with 13 points.

In addition, Lewis guards Shawn Roberts and Terry Niego pumped in 16 and 13 points respectively.

"We needed to contain Lewis' guards Roberts and Niego, and we didn't do that," Hilke said. "The Lewis team had five players in double figures and they played a great game. We just couldn't stop them."

Hilke added, "We were playing out of control and made a lot of unnecessary mistakes."

Although Eastern had seven fewer turnovers than Lewis, Hilke said the Flyers took better advantage of the Panther miscues.

"They capitalized on our mistakes better than we could capitalize on theirs and that hurt us tremendously," Hilke noted.

"When we turned the ball over, they converted it into points and when we got the ball away from them, we usually turned it back over or just failed to score," Hilke continued.

"We did take a lot of good shots, but they just would not go down," she added.

Eastern was led by sophomore forward Tom Collins, who was seven of seven from the charity stripe and finished the contest with 12 markers.

Kathy Lanter chipped in 16 points for the Panthers, while Chris Aldridge had her best game from the field, finishing with 12 points.

Eastern trailed 36-32 at the intermission, but Lewis came out strong in the second half, pulling to a 72-57 lead with 3:50 remaining in the contest.

"We didn't play an exceptionally bright game, meaning we didn't take care of our basketball the way we should have," Hilke added. "That's why they got the big lead that they did."

Eastern then attempted to make a comeback, outscoring the Flyers 10-4 in the next 10 minutes of play, but the Lady Panthers' effort fell short.

Lewis used top-flight free throw shooting to edge past the Panthers as the Flyers hit 20 of 25 shots for an 87-percent average, the best a team has shot against Eastern this season.

Eastern, meanwhile, shot 81 percent at the charity stripe, its best performance at the line this season.

Tracksters fall to Big 10 opponents

by Mike Lynch

Despite some impressive individual performances, Eastern's men's and women's track teams faltered against Big 10 opponents Saturday.

The men tracksters placed fifth at the 13-team Illinois Intercollegiate Championships behind front-runner Illinois while the women placed third behind Big 10 opponents Ohio State and Purdue as they hosted a five-team meet.

The men, who had hoped to equal last year's fourth-place performance, failed to notch any first- or second-place finishes.

The two-mile relay team of Gary Hudson, Mike Erney, Drew Geisler, and Paul West registered the only third-place Panther finish.

Eastern finished fourth four times. Distance runners Perry Edinger and Tim Warneke, hurdler Cornell Wilson and the distance medley relay team all earned fourth-place ribbons.

Rounding out the Panther scoring was the fifth-place effort of Merrill Kaney in the 60-yard run and three sixth-place showings from Mike Erney in the 1000-meter run, Larry Thoenissen in the 35-pound weight throw and Dave Houston in the 800-meter run.

Although the women tracksters failed to notch any first-place finishes, the Panthers totaled 43 points behind six second-place and five third-place showings.

Individually, high jumper Barbro Hines, long jumper Barbara Hudson and sprinters Sonya Brown and Charmine Carrethers all registered second-place finishes.

Eastern's 220- and 440-yard relay teams also posted second-place finishes.

The lady tracksters got third-place efforts from Margaret Smith in the mile, Gina Sperry in the two-mile, Renne Johnson in the 600-yard run, Ramona Fowles in the 60-yard hurdles and Gail Stephens in the 440-yard run.

In addition, Stephens time of 56.9 in the 440 established a new school record.

Both the men and women track teams will be off this week until Feb. 19. The men will travel to Purdue while the women host Southeast Missouri State.
